<h2>1. Lata Mangeshkar</h2>

An innocent, 13-year-old girl stepped into the Bollywood industry to make a living as an actress and a singer after losing her father to cancer. Who knew she would win so many hearts? Lata Didi, as she is lovingly known, has sung more than 50,000 songs in over 36 languages and is a recipient of the highest civilian honour—Bharat Ratna.

<h2>2. Mohammed Rafi</h2>

    Mohammed Rafi could switch from a ghazal like “Aap Ke Pehloo Main Aakar Ro Diye” to plaintive bhajan like “Sukh Ke Sab Saathi” or a whacky composition like “Chahe Koi Mujhe Jungle Kahe” so effortlessly. He had an innate ability to adapt his voice with the screenplay and characters. Remember how he sang the phenomenal song “Sar Jo Tera Chakraye” featuring Johnny Walker? It felt like the actor is actually singing the song because Rafi managed to adapt Walker’s personality into his performance meticulously.

<h2>3. Kishore Kumar</h2>

    “Tera Mujhse Hai Pehle Ka Naata Koi, Yoonhi Nahin Dil Lubhaata Koi ", is the simplest way to define the impact this evergreen male singer has left on our hearts. Be it his madcap comedy, his yodeling, his energetic performance, or his soulful musical rendition, Kishore Kumar has the ability to express the deepest and a myriad range of emotions through his voice and performance. His quirkiness added a distinct charm to his personality.

<h2>4. Asha Bhosle</h2>

The undisputed Indie Pop queen of India, Asha Bhosle, has transformed the Indian music industry with her varied performances like "Oh Mere Sona Re" or the sensuous "Aaiye Meherban" to voicing the famous cabaret performances of Helen like "Piyaa Tu Ab Toh Aa Jaaa". Her versatile voice quickly transcends from one genre to another ranging from film music, pop, bhajans, ghazals, to Indian classical music, qawwalis, folk songs, or Rabindra Sangeets. No wonder she is an all-time favorite singer!

5. Usha Uthup

Usha Uthup has ‘unconventional’ written all over her with her trademark massive bindi, gajra, and Kancheepuram saris and a powerful, almost manly baritone. She is a stage performer and gave performances all over the world and is known for her lively stage presence. She has ruled the Indian music industry for over 5 decades now and is still relevant and in demand for her power-packed stage performance in Indian pop, filmi, and jazz.

<h2>7. Kumar Sanu</h2>

It is almost impossible to find a 90s playlist without a Kumar Sanu track in it. Kumar Sanu has been one of Bollywood's most acclaimed playback singers especially in the 1990s. He started his career in the late 1980s by his original name Kedarnath Bhattacharya which he later changed to Kumar Sanu as his style of singing was greatly influenced by the legendary singer Kishore Kumar. Kumar Sanu has won five consecutive film fare awards which is a record in itself.

8. Alka Yagnik

With seven film fare awards and two national film awards to her name, Alka Yagnik is unarguably one of the most prominent playback singers of Indian cinema. She started her career as a playback singer in 1980 and got the major breakthrough in her career came with the song ‘ek do teen’ from tezaab in 1988. In her three decade long career, she has sung over 20,000 songs of which many have been considered as few of the most memorable songs of Indian cinema.

<h2>9. Sonu Nigam</h2>

Sonu Nigam is beyond doubt one of the most popular Bollywood playback singers of the last three decades. He started his playback singing career in the early 1990s with the song ‘O aasmaan wale’ from Aaja meri jaan (1993) and now has sung for over 80 bollywood films and over 20 music albums. He is known as one of the few versatile playback singers of the Indian film industry with five film fare awards to his name. ‘Kal ho na ho’ from Kal ho na ho (2003), Mai agar kahoon from Om shanty om (2007), ‘chori kiya re jiya’ from dabangg.

Top 10 Singers Of All Time

1. Lata Mangeshkar

An innocent, 13-year-old girl stepped into the Bollywood industry to make a living as an actress and a singer after losing her father to cancer. Who knew she would win so many hearts? Lata 'Didi', as she is lovingly known, has sung more than 50,000 songs in over 36 languages and is a recipient of the highest civilian honour—Bharat Ratna.

2. Mohammed Rafi

Mohammed Rafi could switch from a ghazal like "Aap Ke Pehloo Main Aakar Ro Diye" to plaintive bhajan like "Sukh Ke Sab Saathi" or a whacky composition like "Chaha Koi Mujhe Junglee Kahe" so effortlessly. He had an innate ability to adapt his voice with the screenplay and characters. Remember how he sang the phenomenal song "Sar Jo Tera Chakraye" featuring Johnny Walker? It felt like the actor is actually singing the song because Rafi managed to adapt Walker's personality into his performance meticulously.

3. Kishore Kumar

"Tera Mujhse Hai Pehle Ka Naata Koi, Yoonhi Nahin Dil Lubhaata Koi", is the simplest way to define the impact this evergreen male singer has left on our hearts. Be it his madcap comedy, his yodeling, his energetic performance, or his soulful musical rendition, Kishore Kumar has the ability to express the deepest and a myriad range of emotions through his voice and performance. His quirkiness added a distinct charm to his personality.

4. Asha Bhosle

The undisputed Indie Pop queen of India, Asha Bhosle, has transformed the Indian music industry with her varied performances like "Oh Mere Sona Re" or the sensuous "Aaiye Meherban" to voicing the famous cabaret performances of Helen like "Piya Tu Ab Toh Ja Jaa". Her versatile voice quickly transcends from one genre to another ranging from film music, pop, bhajans, ghazals, to Indian classical music, qawwalis, folk songs, or Rabindra Sangeets. No wonder she is an all-time favorite singer!

5. Usha Uthup

'Usha Uthup has 'unconventional' written all over her with her trademark massive bindi, gajra, and Kancheepuram saris and a powerful, almost manly baritone. She is a stage performer and gave performances all over the world and is known for her lively stage presence. She has ruled the Indian music industry for over 5 decades now and is still relevant and in demand for her power-packed stage performance in Indian pop, filmi, and jazz.'

7. Kumar Sanu

It is almost impossible to find a 90s playlist without a Kumar Sanu track in it. Kumar Sanu has been one of Bollywood's most acclaimed playback singers especially in the 1990s. He started his career in the late 1980s by his original name Kedarnath Bhattacharya which he later changed to Kumar Sanu as his style of singing was greatly influenced by the legendary singer Kishore Kumar. Kumar Sanu has won five consecutive film fare awards which is a record in itself.
